

Kai Shing KOH and Ketan PANDE

A 50-year-old gentleman with paraplegia after a motorbike accident presented with swelling of his right thigh. He gave a history of having lower limb massage two months previously, after which he developed extensive bruising on his right thigh. A pelvis radiograph (Panel) revealed an abnormality.

What is the diagnosis?

Answer: refer to page 122

Correspondence author: Kai Shing KOH,
Department of Orthopaedics,
RIPAS Hospital, Bandar Seri Begawan,
Brunei Darussalam
E mail: kaishing.koh@uqconnect.edu.au